BROCKOVER'S HEIRS.—City Sergeant Ripley yesterday received a letter from Mr. A. L. Prichard, a prominent citizen of Mannington, in relation to the heirs of Wm. H. Brockover, the miner who died at Denver, Colorado, a few days since, and left considerable money and valuables. Brockover died from smallpox, and a friend wrote to Capt. Ripley, asking for information as to his heirs, who were supposed to live in this vicinity. Mr. Prichard writes that an old mannamed James Brockover lives in Mannington, whose son, Wm. H. Brockover, went to Denver a few years since and engaged in mining. It is Mr. Prichard's opinion that Mr. James Brockover is the father of the deceased, and that opinion is also entertained by Capt. Ripley. The Captain, however, is also in receipt of a letter from Mr. Richardson, who first wrote him concerning the matter, in which he states that aince writing his first of a letter from Mr. Richardson, who first wrote him concerning the matter, in which he states that since writing his first communication he has obtained information to the effect that Brookover's relatives live in the vicinity of Fort Scott, Iowa. The claimants will no doubt communicate directly with the Mayor and Chief of Police of Denver, who have charge of the dead man's effects.

CARELESS HANDLING OF FIRE ARMS.—Yesterday morning a boy named Mooney had a narrow escape from serious if not fatal injury, by the accidental discharge of a weapon in the hands of a comrade. Mooney and a companion named Hildebrand were playing together in an alley between 15th and 16th streets, east of Jacob. The former had a pistol in his possession, which he told Hildebrand was not loaded. Hildebrand took it, and cocking it, playfully pointed it at Mooney and pulled the trigger. A discharge followed, and the ball passed through Mooney's clothing in the region of the heart, abrading the skin slightly. Mooney took the matter very philosophically, and when his mother, who is a widow, ran to the scene, he cried out: "You needn't cry, mother; he didn't do it on purpose!" The statement was incorrect in this particular, that it was B. R. Mallory, and not B. H. Mallory, who was relerred to in the article. The latter is a substantial business man of Clarington, and the item did him gross injustice. The error was a typographical one.

DELEGATION OF IRON WORKERS .- At DELEGATION OF IRON WORKERS.—At a meeting of iron workers of the city, held at Walthers' Hall on Thursday evening, a delegation of well known mill men was appointed to attend the tariff demonstration at Pittsburgh this evening. They will leave on a special train this morning at 5 o'clock. We understand that they also intend holding a demonstration in Wheeling the latter part of next week.

After stating, upon oath, that they did not possess any property except that already seized and attached, they were discharged from custody.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN A COAL BANK.— Wm. Warren, a miner employed at Archibald's coal bank, South Wheeling, while at work on Thursday evening received injuries from the effects of which he died yesterday morning. He had removed the wooden upons supporting the injuries from the effects of which he died yesterday morning. He had removed one of the wooden prope supporting the roof of the bank, when a large mass of slate fell on him, crushing him to the earth. His shoulders and back were badly bruised and disfigured. sas chap couldn't fix the roof of his house because it was raining, and when it wasn't raining it didn't need it. Likely the same can be said of the footwaik bordering the fair grounds near the bridge, over the west river; but nevertheless it's a bad case of neglect and one that causes serious complaint. miserable affair, a heart-break to ladies and a source of profanity from men.

To effectually remedy it the street ought to be filled up several feet and a good pavement laid, but it could be improved greatly by putting down a heavy wooden curbing on each side and filling in with grayel or askes. The city authorities will perhaps excuse themselves like the Arkansas man, by saying that it can't be done in bad weather. We can only reply in the language of Aunt Ophelia: "Lord, how shiftless!"
